Edinburgh commercial law firm BTO wins team development session with Ros

Leading corporate leadership and coaching expert Ros Taylor has announced the winner of a competition to win a day of her expert team training, with Sandra Cassels of the Edinburgh office of Commercial Law firm BTO scooping the prize.

Ros, who is also a published author, clinical psychologist and broadcaster, picked the new BTO team as winners after considering a number of entries from other Scottish businesses. The training BTO will receive has previously been given to companies such as ebay and Jacobs Engineering

Ros said: "The training I will deliver is designed to bring out individual working styles and establish how these styles fit together as part of the wider team.

This is ideal for Sandra and her colleagues because they are a new team who are getting to know each other's personalities, never mind how they work together professionally. I am really looking forward to seeing the results."

Of the win, Sandra said: "We are delighted to be working with Ros and looking forward to a challenging and exciting team day to move the team and the company forward."
