

bto to host seminar on cyber-crime and security

Leading independent Scottish law firm bto solicitors is to host a seminar on cyber-crime and security aimed at Scottish SMEs on Thursday 26 November 2015.

bto's Data Protection Defence Team and Scottish IT security provider Truststream have teamed up to offer straightforward and realistic advice to SMEs on how to protect from the legal consequences and reputational damage of a cyber incident where confidential data is compromised.

Laura Irvine, associate and Solicitor Advocate at bto solicitors, who is speaking at the event alongside Bryan Thomson, director at Truststream, comments: "Cyber-crime has hit the headlines recently; from the global impact of a breach like Ashley Madison, the national repercussions of TalkTalk, right down to a local hairdressers in Glasgow.

"Cyber security is not simply a matter for your IT providers, it is essential to business continuity and regulatory compliance with the Data Protection Act. Police Scotland recommend that a 'third eye' is needed to review systems, highlight security vulnerabilities and provide advice on how to address them."

The event will take place on Thursday 26 November 2015 at 12.15pm in bto's Glasgow office. It is free of charge and a buffet lunch will be provided.
